

TAKING COLD.

A "cold" is not necessarily the result of low or high temperature. A person may go directly from a hot bath into a cold one or into snow even, and not take cold. On the contrary, he may take cold by pouring a couple of tablespoonfuls of water upon some part of his dress, or by standing in a door, or before a stove, or sitting near a window, or other opening, where one part of the body is colder than another. Let it be kept in mind that uniformity of temperature over the whole body is the first thing to be looked after. It is the unequal heat upon the different parts of the body that produces colds, by disturbing the uniform circulation of the blood, which in turn induces congestion of some part. If you must keep a partially wet garment on, it would be as well, perhaps, to wet the whole of it uniformly. The feet are a great source of cold on account of the variable temperature they are subjected to. Keep these always dry and warm, and avoid draughts of air, hot or cold, wet spots on the garments, and other direct causes of unequal temperature, and keep the system braced up by plenty of sleep, and the eschewing of debilitating foods and drinks, and you will be proof against a cold and its results.

CHANGING SENTIMENT.—The New Lisbon Patriot has the following:—
Mr. Joshua Coggie, a Quaker gentleman of Butler township, in this country, has always been a warm abolitionist. He is uncle of Edward Coggie, and went out to Virginia for the purpose of bringing home the remains of his nephew for interment. On his way home he was detained at Wellsville for a couple of hours, and there had a conversation with Mr. D. F. Lawson, in which he said:—"I come home a converted man. The Virginians are as kind hearted and Christian a people as ever I was among. Our anti-slavery agitation at the North is all wrong. I am satisfied that it has put back the cause of the slave, and I am going home to do what I can to put it down, and I hope they will do the same. I am satisfied that all Virginia wants is Christian treatment, and at the proper time she will do more for the slaves than we ever can. Mr. Coggie had never before opened his eyes to the disastrous consequences of Northern fanaticism, but now having learned them like an honest man he will endeavor to put down agitation. There are many people of the same class, and when they get fairly to understand where they are drifting, they will cut loose from abolitionism, and set to work to create a tone of healthy conservatism."

THE HARMATTAN WIND.—During the prevalence of these winds, I have frequently seen the furniture split, and articles which were venerated considerably damaged, the veneering in some cases being curled up like dried sheets. Books left closed on the table at night would be found on the following morning completely opened, and each leaf standing up as if it had been highly stiffened with gum. At such times, glass tumblers would break, apparently of their own accord; and I have known one slight tap given to a tumbler made of blown glass not only to break it, but, as if by sympathy, others remotely placed in different parts of the room.—Travels in Eastern Africa.

A MEXICAN FUNERAL.—A funeral passed my house a few days ago, and, as the ceremony was somewhat different from one in our country, I will describe it exactly as I saw it. The little child was dressed magnificently, crowned with roses, and the table upon which it was laid was covered with flowers. The table was carried through the streets with the child on it; three or four men and boys walked in front fringing rockets, and the military band followed, playing the gayest music. The beautiful faith of these people makes angels of their little ones—so they rejoice rather than mourn.—Aepulco (Feb. 12) cor. N. Y. Herald.

ONE of the most unique of recent inventions is a cane, which is also a lantern—a stout, elegant walking stick, and a brilliant, steady light. The lantern is set in the body of the cane about six inches from the top, and so as not to disfigure its proportions or beauty, and can be lit at pleasure by pulling the cane apart, or borne along dead, when the cane, without close observation, is undistinguishable from an ordinary, large sized walking stick. It is a useful invention for doctors, watchmen, editors of daily papers, young men who "sit up" with people who ain't their sisters, and all other classes who have to be out at night's.

As a specimen of the utility of logic, we give the following:
A sharp student was called up by the worthy professor of a college, and asked the question,
"Can a man see without eyes?"
"Yes, sir," was the prompt answer.
"How, sir," cried the amazed professor, "can a man see without eyes? Pray, sir, how do you make that out?"
"He can see with one, sir," replied the ready-witted youth; and the whole class shouted with delight at his triumph over metaphysics.

As an Irish advertisement says, "a reward of five dollars is offered for the apprehension of Patrick O'Flaherty, who last week stole a jackass, which same had on a pair of corduroy breeches, with blue eyes, and smokes a short pipe, much given to squinting, and likewise his shoes let down at the heel."

As E— was trying to persuade little Eddy to retire at sundown, using as an argument that the little chickens went to roost at that time. "Yes," says Eddy; "but the old hen always goes with them." Aunty tried no more arguments with him.

A lady visitor of Brighton, England, rushed into a tradesman's house to search herself for something that was crawling about her, and there was found in the trellis work of her crinoline a kitten, which had got there at the last house she visited.

Here's the place to buy your togethery.
Buy your vests and buy your breeches,
Buy your shirts and fancy fixings,
Buy your caps and buy your chapeaus,
Buy your garments big and little,
Hats as high as any stepple,
Or as low as the hayon.
All goods sold at low or lower than the lowest,
Retail dealer in this region,
Janes to sell his traps and plumper,
Opposition, "stand from under!"
Mawatha is he who can paddle,
His own good ship, his own staunch hooker,
Boats and shoes for gents and ladies,
Children and youth and little babies,
Mawatha has, and he is bound to sell 'em
Cheaper than the other traders,
Who can only lurchly, waddle,
While he'll "just get up and kashdille!"
Work to windward of the equinox,
For he carries piles of canvas,
And "goes in" upon his muscle,
Come along or send your orders
For goods that come by the Kaledoh,
Goods that come via-a-Goderich,
That's the route to bring your freight on,
Always sound and always certain,
Far across the raging Haron.
But the God of navigation
Likes the style of the Kaledoh,
Likes her owners and her captain,
And he blesses every package,
Every box and every barrel,
That comes that way, most truly.
But the machine is quite sure,
So I'll blow my whistle and
Shut off.
